MADISON STILL FAR BELOW HER QUOTA

Strong Plea Is Made To Remember Kentucky Boys Who Made Supreme Sacrifice.

(Contributed)
Madison county's quota for the Kentucky Memorial Building Fund is $5,000. The drive is on and the week is more than half gone without a proportionate part of her quota raised.

When America entered the war, few were slow and deliberate in saying that it was right to send men to offer their lives for the safety of their country and their homes. It was fitting that they go and even die for ideals. None suggested to them their probable fate, and they thought not of it for theirs was a privilege to give all that men could give—their lives.

Are we so prone to forgetfulness and ingratitude that we will coldly pass by the opportunity and privilege to prove our appreciation.

However it may be with the families whose sons have returned safe and sound, there are other families that have not forgotten nor will they forget until they rest beneath the sod as their noble sons now rest beneath the battlefields of Europe.

What will the 34 families of Madison, that lost sons in the war, think of the spirit of their neighbors, if our quota is not raised? How do they feel about a Memorial to the dead heroes?

What do former soldiers, sailors and marines think of the Memorial? They are right behind it with work and money. Are the men who physically bore the burden of the war now the only ones who will financially support the Kentucky Memorial Building Fund? They are making the most liberal contributions. What will they say of those they protected if our quota is not raised?

But our quota will be raised. Many who have made small contributions will probably reconsider and double their first subscriptions, although it is hoped that the quota can be raised by more small sums. Many people have not been approached on the subject as it is almost impossible to cover the whole county in a limited time. But people should not have to be begged for a cause like this. Every Kentuckian should be proud of the opportunity to honor his dead statesmen. How large will your contribution seem when compared to human life as a free will offering?

Go to any member of any team or to the State Bank & Trust Co. and fill out one of the pledges. No sum is too large or too small. Do not wait to be begged.

The pledges are payable any time between Nov. 1, 1919 and Nov. 1, 1920. If you prefer by cash or by check fill out the pledge as usual and mark it "cash" or "check" as the case may be.

Let us not fall behind our neighboring counties. Madison has always done her part and we feel sure that she will continue.

Country School Doing Fine

Prof. J. B. Harris, Supervisor of Rural schools, informs the Daily Register that up to the present writing, he has visited about half of the schools, and finds them well attended. For the first time in the history of rural schools, the teachers have gotten in close touch with the patrons by visiting their homes, and encouraging the patrons to visit the schools. A large percent of the teachers have organized community meetings, and have had ice cream and pie suppers realizing in many instances from $50 to $75, which will be used for improvement on the buildings, and purchasing libraries.

Richmond real estate continues to change hands at a rapid rate. Home-seekers are in the market constantly for houses and lots and every one that becomes vacant is snapped up in short order. Real Estate Agent B. F. Golden sold a couple of nice little homes this week. For Mrs. Dick White he sold a house and lot on Fifth street to Hayward Jones and wife, for $2,000. For Hanson Thomas he sold a house and lot on Laurel street to Mrs. O'Donnell for $787.50. Mr. Thomas bought this place a couple of weeks ago for $137 less than he has just sold it for.

That the gubernatorial campaign this year is going to be a hard fought one and the election close in the consensus of opinion of both Democrats and Republicans and it is absolutely essential that every Democratic voter go to the polls and register two weeks from Tuesday.

The Trail of the Lonesome Pine

In Eugene Walter's dramatization of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," the widely read novel by John Fox, Jr., the author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," you see presented on the stage the typical mountain community of the Virginia hills. The primitiveness of the people is shown in all its picturesqueness and charm and you will love June and her kinsfolk far more on the stage than you did when you wandered with her through the pages of Mr. Fox's delightful story. In her characterization of June, Miss Jane Ware emphasizes the wild mountain girl's longing for the knowledge of the world outside of her mountain environment and which is after all, the strongest motive of mankind. This dramatic success comes to the Opera House Monday, Sept. 29th.

CLAIM 35,000 MEN ARE STRIKING

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 25 — Even should the steel corporation consent to meet representatives of the men, the nation-wide strike of the steel workers could not now be called off in the opinion of John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers committee, as expressed at the opening Senate labor committee's investigation of the strike. Fitzpatrick asserted that the "350,000 men are on strike are going to demand from the United States government justice, decent justice." Fitzpatrick outlined what he said were labor conditions in the steel industry. He declared with the organization of the steel corporation a campaign was begun to push out organized workers about a year ago. In Chicago he said were 24 international organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, determined to organize steel workers, and last May had enrolled 80,000. Its membership is about 150,000. In June it was decided to take a strike vote and 98 per cent of the men voted to quit. Fitzpatrick figured the steel mill employees numbered 500,000.

New Unitarian Minister Has Louisville Guessing

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 25—Both pastors and laymen in Louisville are centering their attention on the First Unitarian Church where the Rev. R. Ernest Akin 34, has accepted the pulpit and announced innovations in church conduct. Rev. Akin steps from the Methodist pulpit to the Unitarian church, his recent charge having been the largest Methodist church in Detroit, located near the Ford Automobile plant.

Pastor Akin attracted attention upon taking over the Unitarian church here by the announcement that he intends building up a new church solely for "young folks" as he did in the Detroit church.

"I believe," he emphasized, "that the best way to do this is to have a stately religious service each Sunday morning and that the evening service should be turned over to the young people. A picture show with a moral lesson and a little talk on the subject by the minister, community singing, followed by a supper served by the women of the congregation in the parlor of the church are part of my plans. All of this would be free to the young folks of the city."

Members of his congregation have asserted that the directing board of the church will "stand by" the minister in every way possible to carry out his idea.

A Smith Dance Friday Eve

There will be an informal dance here Friday evening, which is being promoted by Franklin Deatherage and Hume Chenaunt. Smith's Sextette which is said to be a dandy, will furnish the music. The players had been engaged for Danville but had to cancel there because of a death there, and so were secured for this dance here.

Gardener Jones, of Clary county, was in town Wednesday accompanied by his father.

STRIKE WILL BE WON OR LOST IN PITTSBURG

(By Associated Press)
No radical change is reported in the steel strike centers today. The most important definite news came from the Chicago district. Steel officials announced that mills would resume work at Gary, Indiana, but offsetting this was the announcement that 1,905 steam engineers in the Illinois company's plant in the same town had been called out, raising again the possibility of a general walk-out.

In the Mahoning Valley district of Ohio, another mill is closed, emphasizing the complete paralysis of the steel industry in that section.

The issue, however, is in the great Pittsburgh area, where both sides concede the struggle will be lost or won. It remains uncertain. Corporation officials asserted some strikers are returning to work, which the strike leaders disputed.

State troops today at Farrell shot and killed a Serbian accused of sniping. At Buffalo a striker shot Tuesday, succumbed to his wounds.

TRYING TO AVERT COAL MINERS' STRIKE

(By Associated Press)
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 25—With a general strike of coal miners tentatively set for November 15, operators and representatives of the men met here today in an effort to reach an agreement on wages, working hours and working conditions and avert a nationwide walkout. The miners' demands include a six per cent wage increase; six-hour day, five day week, time and a half for overtime, and double time for Sunday and holidays. At the outset both sides seemed far apart. Prominent operators characterize the demands as far too radical. It is generally agreed an agreement will be reached only after long deliberation, if at all.

WILL U. S. KEEP PLEDGE TO GUARANTEE PEACE?

(By Associated Press)
Denver, Col., Sept. 25—Declaring the peace treaty issue at last has been clearly drawn, President Wilson said in an address here today "the question is squarely facing the nation was whether the United States would keep its pledges to help guarantee the peace of the world."

Of all the subject matter the treaty aside from the league covenant the President, said the Shantung provision is the only one criticised. That objection is now cleared away, he said, as had been the lesser objections urged against the covenant itself, "Hyphens," he added, while the crowd cheered, "are the knives being stuck into this document." After his address the President left for his next address.
